I-X Piston Powered Autorama

CLEVELAND, OH

Could the I-X Piston Powered Autorama become the next Detroit Autorama? Some think it might. Every year they are filling the one million square feet of the floor with some of the most unique and diverse vehicles or as they say, “If a piston runs it, you’ll find it there.”

Personally I think both shows have a unique flavor that does not overlap. The I-X Piston Powered Autorama is such a large show, it is impossible to soak it all in, in just one day. Hotels and motels are in great abundance around the venue and you can pick whatever suits you and at reasonable prices, making it easy to stay for a couple of days to really get to enjoy the event.

If you like vintage military vehicles, they have it, if it’s airplanes, they have it, if it’s vintage campers, they have them, and so on. Get my drift. The show has basically something for everyone, and because of the size of the floor, you get to see many of the various types, not just one or two. My favorite is their massive food court!

The show is held every March and for further information check out their website at www.pistonpowershow.com and we will publish information about 2020 as we get it.
I-X Piston Powered Autorama
For many of you followers of Show and Cruise News Magazine, you may have noticed that we have had various individuals contribute interesting auto related articles from time to time. In 2001, the late Al Zuber stopped by my house and wanted to talk about one of his club members who had a flare for writing about our hobby. He brought a few articles that John Dumbrowsky had penned and we immediately fell in love with his writing. So in 2001 the “Tire Tracks” feature was born.

For a person who had never written professionally, John had the unique way of expressing himself that made you feel you were right there beside him as he experienced the adventure. One month you would be traveling through back roads exploring out-of-the-way places that were his passion to find, the next month you would be laughing your ass off as he described how he ran over his own foot while working on a van he owned.

Some times you would be getting a history lesson about a once forgotten car or engine that was unique to Western New York, or you’d get a lesson on how not to go to the DMV on a holiday to register a car and wonder why you got such a good parking spot so close to the building, only to find out it was closed.

John became a very good friend of ours over the years and a good friend of many who never met him except through his scribbling, as he would call them. If for some reason there would be a month without a “Tire Tracks” article we would get calls asking why there wasn’t one.

Well unfortunately after 18 years of connecting with his readers, John has decided to retire his pen. We can’t say enough how fortunate we were to have him write for our Magazine and how grateful we are that we can call John our friend, never asking for anything, but giving 100% of himself all the time.

We will miss his writings, but will always stay connected as friends.

Thank You John!

Until next time, he’ll be cruisin’ around town.

Racing Season – Or No?

I know that May is the kickoff date for many of the cruise nights across Central and Western New York, but for those who are racers, this past fall and winter had become an up and down off season, as to whether certain tracks will re-open or not.

Starting with the track closest to us which hosts drag and stock car events, it’s great to know that two local businessmen were able to make a deal on Lancaster Raceway. Although now is the time that test and tune usually happens, it will take a little more time to prepare the track, but drivers’ meetings have already been set and it looks as if plans will be in place soon for the track to open.

I know there are still a lot of questions being asked -- Are they going to host a cruise night? Are they bringing back “Run what you Brung Night? And what major events are being scheduled? From my prospective, track owners Mike Swinarski and Vito Antonicelli will have things in place real soon. But more importantly, we need to get behind these two owners and help them make the track a success. Even though they are already successful business owners and successful race car drivers, without the support of the other racers in the area, and spectators to fill the stands, we will be facing another off-season of Facebook questions and speculation.

We at Show and Cruise News Magazine applaud the dynamic duo for taking a great leap of faith and will support them as much as possible as the track is great for the local economy and especially the small businesses that would have been affected if the track closed.

Not So Lucky

Not so lucky is motorsports at the historic Indiana State Fairgrounds. This historic one-mile oval pre-dates the famed Indianapolis Motor Speedway and has seen nearly as many famed drivers kick dirt from under their tires. The fairgrounds will host one more race this year and discontinue auto racing in favor of horse racing and additional parking. I guess they opted for a different kind of horsepower.

USAC & Track Enterprises have been in discussions with the fairgrounds staff for the past two years to see if it was possible to continue auto racing at the oval, but it was to no avail as the economics of the horse industry and their desire to use the full one-mile track year round, rather than the half-mile currently in the infield won out in the end.

The fairgrounds plan on paving the one-mile oval with crushed limestone to create an all weather surface. The track known as the “Track of Champions” dates back to 1892, proving once again, nothing is forever.

Milwaukee Mile to Continue Racing

Professional racing to return (again) to the Milwaukee Mile this summer. While drag racing and sports car racing hasn’t filled the stands the way nationally sanctioned professional races used to, bringing the racing back this season may yet earn clemency from those who aim to close it for good.

Cruise Nights and Car Shows

When you check out the car show and cruise night listings, it is the latest and most up-to-date information that was provided to us. If you have a cruise night you want listed, the owner of the property should contact us as we have had people call us about a cruise night and, in fact, it was never agreed upon by the owner of the establishment.

As for car shows, simply submit a flyer and we will extract the information from that. Check our site frequently as we list changes or additions as soon as we get them.

Central Terminal Car Show

By Andy Sackett
Photos by Andy Sackett and Gary Swiatowy

Buffalo, NY

What could be better than seeing a group of vehicles from the past in one location. It’s having these vehicles at a historic site that if the walls could talk, it could tell of the history and growth of Buffalo.

I’m talking about the annual car show held at the old Central Terminal in Buffalo, NY. This historic site has been saved from demolition, and over the years a portion has been restored to its original state.

Just driving up to the terminal you get the feeling of its majestic being, and when you walk through the doors you can just imagine the numbers of people who took those same steps going to catch a train, possibly for business, a vacation, or for whatever. The train was a popular and inexpensive mode of transportation.

This year’s car show will be on June 29th and for more information check out our events listing in this Magazine. And, oh Yea, the award plates are mounted on the original marble from the Central Terminal.
